Test Comparison of NIS Photos reproduced with different screens

On 21 May 1959 I had a lengthy discussion with KAK about the quality of photos in printed NIS, the possibility that the older coarse screening might be better for the NIS stock for at least some types of photos, the desirability of running a normal-conditions test to compare the results with the different screens, etc. He said you were laying on or had laid on such a test run with PSD. Several months ago I inquired as to progress with such a test. It seems to me that this is an entirely reasonable request from OBI to PSD, and that eight months is far too long a time to get action. I suggest that you remind PSD that the request for this test has been outstanding for this length of time, and request that some test sheets of average photos (probably mostly for Ch II) be provided OBI at least within another month.
